Six O'clock Dinner.

Miss Patsy Lipscomb entertained a few friends with an elaborate six o'clock dinner on Tuesday evening.

The pretty home was beautifully decorated in palms and other potted plants. In the center of the dining table was a perfect representation of a great mound of sparkling snow, and a miniature Santa Claus preparing to enter a tiny, inviting chimney.

Massive old-fashioned candle sticks and small Christmas trees were used about the table and great bunches of holly and mistletoe caught to the chandeliers.

The dainty and palatable menu was served in five courses.

Candy Pulling.

A candy pulling was given by the members of the Central Baptist Sunday school in the Opera House block on Thursday evening.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather about 100 guests were present, and the occasion was one of the merriest of the happy Christmas season.

Charming Party.

Miss Corinne Singleton charmingly entertained a few friends on Wednesday night in honor of her attractive guest, Miss Mattie Orme of Jasper.

The home was beautifully decorated in holly, mistletoe and ferns, and the affair was very much enjoyed by the guests, among whom were Misses Carrie Belle McPherson, Allie Hensley, Pauline Lisle, Nancy Lyman, Genevieve Conway, Nola Jones, Patsy Lipscomb; Messrs. Joe and Emery Griggs, Charles Spears, Charles Jackson, Edgar Teed, Joe Tanner, Sam Lipscomb, Jonett Wilson and Frank Singleton.

A delicious menu, consisting of five courses, was served.

Complimentary Dinner-Dance.

Mrs. D. L. Pendleton entertained with a charming dinner-dance at her elegant home on Thursday evening, in honor of Miss Helen Nelson, who is at home from Washington, D. C.

The decorations used were very artistic, a feature being the perfect miniature Santa Claus and his reindeer, drawing a beautiful little sleigh filled with dainty souvenirs for the guests.

Mistletoe and holly were used with artistic taste as further decorations for the handsome table. A delicious meat course was served in a charming manner.

Brandenburg-Kelly.

Mr. Wm. Brandenburg and Miss

Mary Lou Kelley were married in this city Wednesday, Dec. 28. Both residents of the county.

Gravitt-Lyle.

Mr. Edward M. Gravitt and Miss Nora Lee Lyle were married Saturday, Dec. 24, at the residence of L. C. Lyle, on Hardwick's creek, Powell county, Elder M. P. Lowry of this city officiating.

Miss Banks Entertains.

Miss Nettie Lou Banks charmingly entertained a few of her friends Monday evening, Dec. 26, at her beautiful home on Boone avenue in honor of her visitors, Miss Grandie Clarke and Mr. Jason Redmon of Paris, and Miss Nettie Wasson and Mr. Clarence Wasson of Millersburg. The decorations were of red, white and green.

The reception hall and parlor were decorated in mistletoe and holly and the dining room in holly, ferns, red and white carnations. A three-course supper was served.

The table was a bower of beauty. All present spent a very delightful evening. Miss Banks proved herself an ideal hostess.

Bush-Brookshire.

J. A. Bush and Miss Frankie Brookshire were married Wednesday, Dec. 28, at the home of the bride's father, John N. Brookshire, Rev. H. C. Wright officiating. The groom is a barber of this city and the bride is teacher in the rural schools. Both have many friends whom we join in best wishes.

Married in Lexington.

Mr. Howard H. Turner of Mt. Sterling and Miss Nettie Hadden of Kiddville were married Tuesday morning at the residence of Prof. W. C. Morrow in this city, Dr. Morrow officiating. The groom is a young business man in his home city and the bride is a popular young woman of Kiddville. They left for Cincinnati, from where they will go out West for a honeymoon trip. They will make their home in Mt. Sterling. Mr. Turner is the only son of Squire Turner, editor and publisher of the Sentinel-Democrat of Mt. Sterling, and he has been connected with his father's paper for some time. —Lexington Herald.

Informal Party.

Master James Todd entertained a few friends informally on Friday evening. Old-fashioned games were played and delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream, cakes and dainty confections were served.

D. A. R. Meeting.

Hart Chapter D. A. R. held a very pleasant meeting with Mrs. W. A. Beatty on Friday afternoon. Only routine business was transacted.

Miss Florence Gilkerson is visiting friends in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Boone are with relatives at Carlisle.

Albert Bernard Cox of Philadelphia is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Hart Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Caywood of Owsley county are visiting Dr. Caywood of this city.

Misses Mary Lisle Duty and Laura Bruce Duty attended the dance at Mt. Sterling this week.

Miss Narcisso Rawlings spent the holidays with friends in Fleming county.

Ernest Lisle and family have moved to Union City, Madison county, to live.

Hon. Caleb Powers was in the city several hours Tuesday the guest of H. G. Garrett. He was on his way to Washington from Barboursville, where he goes to help Judge Morrow in the attempt to capture the district attorneyship.

Miss Eunice Earp is visiting relatives at Huntington, W. Va.

During Christmas week Reese Horton and Miss Myrtle Conkright, both of this county, were married at Mt. Sterling. License was also issued for the marriage of Boyd Jones of Montgomery county to Miss Lizzie Scott of this county.

Mrs. Wm. Mountz of Cincinnati is visiting Miss Ruth Beall.

Mr. Henry Reed of Mt. Sterling paid this office a pleasant call Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Bush have taken rooms with Mrs. Chas. B. Nelson on Lexington avenue.

A. B. Smoot spent the holidays with his parents at Flemingsburg.

A pretty little daughter was born Tuesday, Dec. 27, to Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Gilbert.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. White of Driftwood, Alfalfa county, Okla., are being congratulated on the birth of a fine daughter on Dec. 23. Mrs. White was

Kentucky Press Association Closes
Interesting Two Days' Session at Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 30.—The annual mid-winter meeting of the Kentucky Press association closed Thursday afternoon, after a session lasting two days, in which live topics of interest to every citizen of the state were discussed. By a unanimous vote of the association, the editors in attendance at the meeting, decided immediately to begin to give effect to the suggestions received from the speakers.

The question of tax revision was handled by Arthur Y. Ford, treasurer of the Columbia Trust company, who has spent several years of practical study of the system in vogue in Kentucky.

The educational conditions prevailing in Kentucky at the present time were discussed by Judge Henry S. Barker, who retires as chief justice of the court of appeals Saturday to assume the presidency of the State University at Lexington. Judge Barker's speech was a feature of the convention.

Mrs. John B. Castleman, Mrs. Jas. A. Leech, president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Chas. P. Weaver also spoke on educational topics.

Other speeches made during the day were by Samuel J. Roberts, editor of the Lexington Leader, who discussed "A New Form of Cash Book;" John J. Berry, of the Paducah News-Democrat, on "What Is News," and R. D. Kelley of Hawesville on "The One-man Office."

Mr. Roberts has devised a new form of loose-leaf cash book, a book which includes a detachable leaf for every day in the month, and which carries space and designation for every cent of the daily receipts and expenditures in the office. In the book he has included five divisions for the five classes of receipts, but this number, of course, may be varied with the needs of different offices. The total receipts for each day are entered, and the receipts of the preceding day carried forward. The book is especially designed to obviate ledger posting, and in addition, bears so much information that the exact status of the business may be determined by the simplest of processes.

A motion was offered by R. W. Brown that a telegram of sympathy and good cheer be sent to A. D. Miller of Richmond, president of the association, who has been detained at home through illness. It was unanimously decided to send the telegram.

At 12:30 o'clock luncheon was served in the rathskeller, an especially well selected and delicious menu having been arranged. The delegates to both the Kentucky Press association and Good Roads conventions took luncheon together.

The meeting came to a close late Thursday afternoon, following a roundtable discussion on "Business Building," conducted by M. F. Conley of the Louisa News. This discussion was participated in by a dozen or more of the editors, who were able to remain over in Louisville until later in the evening or until Friday morning.

Just before the adjournment Ryland C. Musick of the Jackson Times issued an invitation to the association to hold its summer meeting in the Breathitt county capital. The invitation was filed and will be submitted to the executive committee at its next meeting, as the selection of the next meeting place rests with this committee.

SCENE FROM "THE BLUE MOUSE."

"THE BLUE MOUSE."

Caught in Germany, "The Blue Mouse," a mischievous but harmless creature, has been imported to this country by Clyde Fitch, who in the importing process, has constructed what is said to be the most laughable farce comedy ever produced. "The Blue Mouse," which comes to the Winchester opera house on Jan. 4, is an adaptation from the German. In its native land it ran for over a year and is still tickling the risibilities of the emperor's own. France is a flutter over the convulsing novelty. The Swedes are shaking their flaxen locks over the doings of the "Mouse." Even Denmark is being amused. It remained for Clyde Fitch to capture, then acclimate the rodent, throw it a bit of cheese and ask New York to nibble with it. The first nibbling took place at the Lyric theater, where thousands nibbled for over a year. A scream went up which extended from ocean to ocean. Mice do multiply, so Mr. E. J. Carpenter captured charming little Gertrude Hitz, told her to get as many fine clothes as she could comfortably wear during the period of three acts, and said, "Tag—you're 'The Blue Mouse.'" But clothes do not make the part of "The Blue Mouse," for Clyde Fitch in creating the character of Paulette Divine, an actress who bears the rodent's name, has given the stage a wholly new type. However, in the play Miss Hitz is not called upon to dance, so that her clothes are quite appropriate, although an insight into what she could do is had, when during the auction of her furniture and personal effects (which takes place during the second act) she offers for sale to an old gentleman a few yards of beads which "was my dancing costume." The prospective purchaser inquires, as he surprisingly scans the costume, "How could you stand it?" "Why," replies the Blue Mouse, innocently, "the stage was steam heated."
